SINGAPORE : Expressing sadness on the news again lost a commercial aircraft in the Asia-Pacific - Indonesia AirAsia aircraft QZ8501 - Wisner Law Firm described the incident as " a grave tragedy." Floyd Wisner, principal of Wisner Law Firm, said, "Our firm represents families of passengers aboard Malaysia Airlines Flight MH370 (and MH17) and the possibility of losing another aircraft in the area is really disturbing."

He hoped investigators would be able to detect the aircraft immediately and begin the process to determine the cause of his disappearance. "Since this is an international airline, AirAsia responsibilities will be subject to an international treaty, the Montreal Convention, which places the responsibility entirely to the airline," he said in a statement here today . However, he said.

Wisner Law Firm believes investigators will analyze carefully the possibility Airbus suffered mechanical problems. The law firm also represents more than 180 passengers and crew aboard a Qantas Airbus Flight 72 crashed overwritten when a flight from Singapore to Perth, Western Australia. Computer problems caused Airbus crashed. Wisner Law Firm also represents the families of passengers and crew aboard Air France Airbus that crashed in the Atlantic Ocean. " We want to stress that this crash, in part, be attributed to defects in the technology ' fly - by- wire ' Airbus, " Wisner said.

Wisner Law Firm has many clients in this region and represents the families of victims of the crash of Garuda flight 152, 185 Silk Air, Garuda 200, 421 Garuda, Lion Air JT 904, 538 Lion Air JT, Adam Air KI 574 and Adam Air KI 292.
